ORDER SHADE TREES TRIMMED IN CITY

INDIANA GRAPE CROP THREATENED

Council Instructs Police to See That Property-owners Comply With Ordinance.

DOGS MUST BE KEPT UP

Ball Playing on Streets in City Ordered Stopped—Officers Get Busy.

The city police force has been instructed by the city councilmen to see that all trees along the streets in the city are trimmed, that dogs are kept off of the street and that boys stop playing ball on the thoroughfares. The police have started to enforce their orders and see that the council's instructions are complied with.

A city ordinance provides that all shade trees along the streets and sidewalks in the city be trimmed in order that the limbs do not come closer than nine feet to the ground. J. T. Abell, chief of police, stated this morning that a large majority of the people in the city have complied with the ordinance. However, there are many places along the streets and sidewalks where the limbs are not higher than five feet from the ground and are a nuisance to pedestrians who are compelled to walk under them. The officers will give the property-owners a few days to trim their trees to comply with the city ordinance and those who fail to do will be waited on by the police and compelled to do it.

Complaints have been made to the city officials that boys are playing ball on the streets which is not only dangerous to people passing by but also has resulted in the destruction of considerable property and the council has ordered the police to see that the practice is stopped. It has been reported that several window lights have been broken and persons injured this season by boys playing ball on the streets. An ordinance prohibits playing ball in the streets and alleys and those who continue to violate it will be prosecuted.

In handing out orders to the police the council also instructed that the dogs be kept off of the streets. Although there is an ordinance prohibiting "canines" running at large many have made their appearance on the streets in the city and gardens and lawns have been damaged. The officers are watching for the stray dogs and will dispose of them as rapidly as they are captured.

Flea Beetle Has Done Much Damage to Grape Vines in Jackson County.

LEAVES HAVE BEEN INJURED

State Entomologist Says Crop Will be Materially Reduced Unless Insect is Destroyed.

Many Seymour and Jackson county people who have grape vines their homes report that the leaves are being attacked by the Flea Beetle, and unless steps are taken to dispose of the insect, which has already done considerable damage, the grape crop in this section will be materially reduced. The beetles have already killed many vines by destroying the leaves, according to reports received at this office.

According to a bulletin sent out by Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist under the department of conservation, he is receiving many reports from all over the state concerning the damage being done by the flea beetle. If something is not done immediately the crop in the state will fall far short this season.

Mr. Wallace points out that the beetles, tiny blue-green insects one-fifth of an inch long, appeared in ear-

WILL HAVE SIXTY PER CENT. CROP

Farmers Expecting Wheat to Turn Out Better Than Was Expected This Season.

FIELDS ARE RIPENING FAST

Will Be Ready to Cut Within Next Two Weeks—Crop is Somewhat Late.

Jackson county will have a sixty per cent. wheat production this season in spite of predictions made a few weeks ago that the yield would not be one-fourth of a crop. Farmers say that the wheat possibilities have been wonderfully improved in the last ten days.

If recent days have been inductive to the growth of the crop they have also, perhaps not in corresponding measure, revealed that there are some formidable enemies to the Jackson county wheat crop this year. No small quantity of the crop is damaged by the Hessian fly and joint worms. Farmers say that it is too early to estimate the full extent of damage by these pests, the most prevalent of which is the fly. The wheat that was sown last fall was infested from the early sown. This demonstrates the necessity, farmers say, of late sowing next fall and this

FEW PREPARING TO TEACH

Indiana Occupied Front Rank in Education a Generation Ago—Interesting Data Collected.

A meeting of the Educational Bureau of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce was held at Indianapolis in the office of L. N. Hines, superintendent of public instruction, who is chairman of the bureau, recently, to consider matters of great importance to the public school situation of the state.

That a grave crisis confronts the public school system of Indiana and the nation, is revealed in certain data just secured by P. R. Inman, manager of the state chamber, who has been collecting information from various sources, on the educational situation. The data discloses the following facts:

There is a shortage in the United States of available funds with which to supply a $2,500,000,000 demand for adequate school buildings and equipment, $200,000,000 is needed for advanced salaries to teachers. The United States is now actually 35,000 short of the required number of teachers. In addition, 65,000 make-shift teachers have been employed. This means a real shortage of 100,000 in trained teachers.

TAGGART SAYS PRESIDENT WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

Democratic Leader Does Not Know What Planks Will Go Into Party Platform.

By United Press.

French Lick, Ind., June 18—"I am satisfied that Woodrow Wilson will not be a candidate for nomination at the San Francisco convention," Thomas Taggart, democratic leader and senatorial nominee from Indiana, said today.

Taggart did not say why he was confident Wilson would not be a candidate. He also refused to say anything regarding names that had been put forward in connection with the democratic presidential race.

Taggart had just been shown the interview with President Wilson published in the New York World in which the president avoided saying whether he would ask for the nomination at San Francisco.

Regarding Wilson's assertion that he was "extremely confident" that the democratic convention at San Francisco would consent to make the league of nations a campaign issue, Taggart said:

"I do not know what planks will go into our platform. I do know, however, that a majority of the American people are for the league of nations and a peace treaty that will bring lasting peace to the world."

"There are other important issues which will come before us as we assemble at the golden state. One of them is a financial problem, another is a reconstruction problem. All of these are important."

WILSON'S CHALLENGE WILL BE ACCEPTED

Republican Party Willing For a Referendum on League of Nations.

(By Ray Clapper, Washington.)

By United Press.

Washington, June 18.—The Republican party will agree to accept the challenge of President Wilson for a referendum on the league of nations, Senator Warren G. Harding, republican presidential nominee, said today.

The Republican attitude of "reserved nationality" will be overwhelmingly embarrassed, Harding predicted on his comments of his interview with President Wilson, published by the New York World.

Asked about the president's interview, Harding said:

"I am sure the republican party will gladly welcome a referendum on the question of foreign relationship of this republic and the republican attitude of reserved nationality will be overwhelmingly endorsed."

RAILROAD WORKERS WILL MAKE DEMAND

Democratic National Convention Will Be Requested to Endorse Government Ownership.

BACKED BY THE FEDERATION

If Democrats Refuse Endorsement Assistance Will be Sought from Labor Party.

By United Press.

Montreal, Que., June 18—Endorsement of government ownership of railroads with "democratic operation" will be demanded of the Democratic platform at San Francisco by two million organized railroad workers, President Heberling of the Switchmen's Union announced here today. Heberling is one of the leaders of the railroad group which yesterday forced endorsement of government ownership from the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor here over the protest of President Samuel Gompers.

The action of the railroad group in putting their program up to the Democratic platform committee virtually means asking the Democratic party to endorse the Plumb plan for tri parte control of railroad operations by the public, government and workers.

"Backed as we are by the American Federation of Labor as a result of the overwhelming majority of our plan yesterday, it is difficult to imagine that the Democratic party can deny us," said Heberling.

Wm. J. Bryan has pledged his support to the plan, Heberling said.

Heberling added if the Democrats refuse endorsement, assistance will be sought from the labor party which is scheduled to hold its nominating convention in July.

Organized labor of the U. S. now is rapidly plunging into a militant policy of active participation in politics it is strongly indicated at this convention. The trend is all towards party affiliation as opposed to the non-partisan participation advocated by President Samuel Gompers. Election of officers scheduled for 230 p. m. is the most important work of the convention today. Re-election of President Gompers by acclamation seemed certain.

EVANSVILLE POLICE CHIEF FOUND GUILTY

Sixty-eight Defendants in "Whiskey Ring" Case Sentenced by Judge Anderson Today.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, June 18—Judge A. B. Anderson in federal court today was to sentence sixty-eight of the original seventy-eight defendants in the Evansville "whiskey ring" case.

Chief of Police Edgar Schmitt, of Evansville, and four others were found guilty late last night of conspiring to violate the Reed prohibition amendment by importing liquor from Henderson, Ky., into Indiana. The others were Schmitt's assistant, Andy Friedle, veteran in the police department; Fred Ossenberg, political boss; Moses and Abie Klyman, two wholesale liquor dealers formerly of Henderson.

The other sixty-three defendants had pleaded guilty and the court dismissed charges against nine defendants, including Sheriff Herbert Males and other prominent county and city officials. Two of those indicted have not yet been apprehended.

Fred VanNuys, district attorney, closing his argument, charged Schmitt with perjuring himself. The police chief made a sweeping denial of all testimony that tended to implicate him in the case.

THE MAJORITY RULES.

Some of the city newspapers who were unable to secure the nomination of their favorite candidate at Chicago are making a great outcry charging autocratic methods by the U. S. Senators. On the other hand delegates who sat in the convention say they could discover no attempt on the part of the senators to influence the vote of the delegates. Even when asked for advice and suggestions the reply by senators more than once was, "Vote for your own choice."

When one-third of the convention favored the choice of a popular hero, and another third favored another strong leader until it was evident that neither could be nominated, it is only natural that these two thirds should be disappointed over the failure to have their candidate succeed. Under such circumstances it is always easy to set up the cry of boss rule and machine control.

Americans dislike a sportsman who whines under defeat and resorts to the charges of unfairness. They will rightly measure the spirit that prompts the present attacks on the Republican convention. Every group sought to dominate at Chicago. That is the American way.

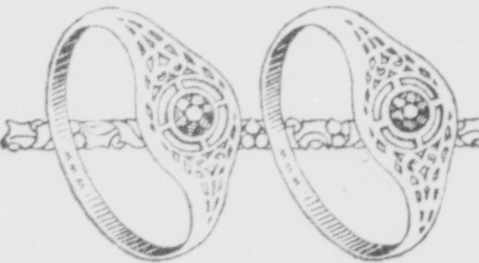

Each wanted to see its own ideas and its own candidate accepted by the majority. No one group had enough votes to accomplish its purpose. The result was the turning to a candidate who stands high in the estimation of all and who was the ly May and deposited their eggs. These now have hatched and the young are attacking the leaves from both the under and upper surfaces. The young also devour the flower buds. An efficient spray for this insect pest is one ounce of arsenate of lead mixed with two gallons of water. It is advisable to add a little soap as the suds will cause the poison to stick to the leaves. If prospects are good for an excellent yield, spraying at intervals of every two weeks is urged, adding a little Bordeaux mixture to prevent infestation of fungus diseases to which grapes are subject. The hairy caterpillars which spin a web and join the leaves should be picked off and burned and affected leaves sprayed. Mr. Wallace says. When in doubt about an insect pest, send a specimen to the state entomologist.

THE PROPER WAY TO PARK AUTOMOBILES

Indictment Implies to Old Drivers, Including Some Chauffeurs and Other Capable Demonstrators.

Not one in a hundred knows how to work a car into a small space to get near a wall or curb when it is necessary to wedge in between two cars only a few feet apart. This indictment applies to old drivers, including some chauffeurs and other wise capable demonstrators, according to an article which appeared a few days ago in one of the largest motor magazines. To do this is a trick worth knowing, for it saves time and possibly damage to another man's car that happens to be in the way.

As a general practice the driver attempts to go into the space head first, whereas it will be impossible to work into a space by this method, particularly if the space is limited. No amount of working around and cramping wheels will avail unless there is ample room and then it will take a good deal of maneuvering.

The motor magazine says: "Naturally conditions will govern to some extent the exact movement and the amount of turning of the wheel, but it can be seen by this idea the car can be brought close to the curb at the back wheels when it is easy to turn the wheels. This turning of the wheels, however, should be performed while the car is still slightly under way, or else destruction to the tires may result.

"The final operation comes in pulling the front end of the car around and getting the front wheels as close to the curb as possible, yet permitting room for swinging out, and then turned out slightly, followed by a straightening movement. Otherwise the body of the car will not come parallel with the curbing.

"The wheels should not stand nearer than six inches from the curb, or it will be difficult to extricate the car from a close space.

"The getting-out process is exactly the opposite—that is swing the front end around but exactly reversed, bringing the car into position so the front wheels will be headed out and from this situation it is only necessary to go ahead, swinging outward, but being careful to signal on the left that you are cutting out and into the line of traffic."

Indianapolis, June 17.—In order that the basket ball rules for the coming season may satisfy coaches, players and followers of the game in all sections of the country a questionnaire on the rules has been sent out to these men. They were sent out by Oswald Tower, chairman of the editorial committee, Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass.

It includes eight questions besides a request for suggestions which might be beneficial to the game or which will tend to improve the administration of the rules.

In Indiana 138 high schools, members of the state association, were represented by basket ball teams last year. Virtually every college in the state was represented by a team and there were many independent teams. It has been estimated that more than 50,000 persons were members of Indiana basket ball teams last season. Therefore, changes in the rules are of general interest throughout the state.

The eight questions sent out are as follows:

"Shall the present inner lines at the end of the court be abolished, and the free throw lanes be continued from the back board to the new end line?"

"Shall a ball underneath the basket or behind the backboard within the free throw lanes be thrown up between two opponents on the free throw line?"

"Would you favor a rule which would make it a foul for player A to make an attempt, attended by personal contact, to get the ball from player B, when B succeeded in getting between A and the basket?"

"Do you favor any modification of the dribble rule which will tend to require the player to get rid of the ball before taking more than one step?"

"Would you favor a rule providing that time to be taken out when a foul is called, the watches to be started again when the ball leaves the hand of the free thrower?"

"Does the sections on questions and answers serve a useful purpose or does it cause confusion?"

"Would you favor a rule permitting a substitute to report either to the referee or umpire?"

"Would you favor a rule permitting a player who has been removed from the game for any reason excepting excessive number of personal fouls, to be returned during the next period as in football?"

Basketball followers of Indiana who have suggestions to make in regard to the rules should send them to Heze Clark, United Press, Indianapolis.

Fordson TRADE MARK Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it cost with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it solves the labor problem.

As ever, the machine-way is proving more efficient, faster, easier than the old hand way. In the factory, the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine farming. And it is the least expensive way of machine farming. Besides it solves the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is the lowest in the market; and the after—or separating—cost is lowest. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the United States.

automobiles in the parade.

Persons contemplating decorating

Montreal, Quebec, Canada, June 18
—Samuel Gompers, veteran leader of organized labor, was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor at its annual convention here and his election was unanimous except for one vote. It was cast by James Duncan of Seattle, Wash.

Duncan's faction resented the adoption of a resolution instructing Secretary Morris to cast a unanimous

CLANSMAN AGAINST CLANSMAN IN THE NOVEMBER ELECTION

Presidential Candidates Will Not
Rally All the Clans Chicago
Democrats Say.

By United Press.

Chicago, June 18.—The skirl of the political bag pipe and the smoke signals of presidential candidates will not rally all the clans, according to Chicago namesakes of Democratic prospects. The November elections, according to their statements today,
will find clansman against clansman.
This was what they said:

William J. Bryan—"My views
don't coincide with those of Wm.
Jennings Bryan at all. I'm a Republican and wouldn't think of voting for him if he were nominated."

Thomas Marshall—"I don't know
Vice President Marshall, but if he's a Democrat I don't vote for him."

Edward Edwards—"I'm neutral but I couldn't vote for Governor Edwards for president. I've been a prohibitionist all my life."

J. W. Davis—"Jeff Davis couldn't get very far and I won't waste my vote on any Davis. Me for Edwards or Cox."

These clansmen will stick:
James McAdoo—"Of course I'll vote for my uncle if he's nominated."

A Palmer—"I'm a progressive but might condescend to vote for the attorney general if he's nominated."

Dr. James Cox—"I might vote for Governor Cox. I hadn't thought of it before."

Robert Owen—"I never heard of Senator Robert L. Owen, but I'm a Democrat and would vote for him."

T. Meredith—"I might change my mind before November but if he's nominated I think I'll vote for E. T.
Meredith."

HELPED TO WIN GREAT WAR

Many Thousands of Chinese Laborers Took Useful Part in the Recent Conflict.

A little known but interesting side-light on the World war is the fact that China was represented in the great conflict by 150,000 laborers, of whom 100,000 worked with the English forces, and 50,000 with the French.

They were recruited in China from the low or coolie-labor classes in units of 500 men. During the early days of the war and up to the middle of 1917 they were sent in transports down through the Indian ocean, up the Red sea and over the Mediterranean sea past Gibraltar to France. But submarines in the Mediterranean made travel too perilous and the route was changed. The balance of the 300 units of 500 men each were then sent over the Pacific to Vancouver, B. C., where the Canadian Pacific would transfer across our continent to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence across the Atlantic to France.

Each man's queue had been cut off and an identification disk, or "snufflet," in army vernacular, placed around his wrist. He was given 60 cents a day, two-thirds of which was set aside for his family or dependents in China—more money than he ever knew about before in a month—and this proved to be a magnet which drew thousands upon thousands of coolies to the recruiting station at Tientsin.

HOOVER IS SOLIDLY BEHIND SENATOR HARDING

Announcement Clears Doubt Regarding His Attitude After the Convention.

By United Press.

Washington, June 18.—Herbert Hoover today threw his support solidly behind Senator Warren G. Harding and called on all loyal republicans to support him. Hoover announced the support of the ticket after talking with him at the leader's invitation. The announcement definitely cleared the doubt regarding his attitude after the convention.

Hoover endorsed the republican party except in some particulars.

He has been mentioned by democratic leaders now at French Lick, Ind. Hoover also declared against the third party which is understood many elements dissatisfied with both parties wanted him to lead. Hoover reiterated previous statements of Harding that Harding would issue no statement of policies until after the democratic convention. It need not reiterate my conviction that the constructive ability so critically needed for the vigorous business of reorganization of the national government and to meet the many economic issues before us lies in the republican party, he declared.

READY TO ACCEPT WILSON TREATY PLAN

Statistics Show Many of the Delegates to Democrat Convention Are Uninstructed.

By United Press.

San Francisco, Calif., June 18.—Members of the democratic national committee and a few delegates already here for the national convention were ready to accept the plan of president Wilson to make the treaty upmost in the campaign.

The talk of a possible renomination of President Wilson for a third time has not appeared in open however. Statistics prepared by the national committee show that the great body of delegates is uninstructed. This fact has entered into the uncertainty surrounding the convention. Forty-nine states and territories listed by the committee show eleven sending instructed delegates.

THIRTY-EIGHT STATES TAKE UP CHILD WELFARE

Permanent National Committee is Formed to Establish Physical Standards for Children.

Thirty-eight States, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii, are actively engaged in measures to promote child welfare, according to a bulletin issued today by the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor. This bulletin summarizes briefly the work done during Children's Year and contains suggestions for follow-up work.

"Throughout almost the entire country," says the report, "there is an obvious need of the continuance of certain activities which may be said to constitute a Children's Year follow-up program." Among important measures mentioned are better birth registration, the establishment of health stations, weighing and measuring tests, open-air classes, nutritional clinics and other measures for the protection and development of school children, protection from illiteracy and premature work by Back-to-School and Stay-in-School campaigns, public provision for wholesome play and recreation under trained leadership and supervision of commercial amusements, study by each community of local needs and resources as related to the care of handicapped children, the promotion of new legislation for the care and protection of children based on a study of present laws and local needs, and a study of the child welfare standards adopted by the Children's Bureau Conferences on Standards of Child Welfare, held in May and June of last year.

It is hoped, the bulletin states, that the child welfare standards will prove a strong influence in concentrating public attention on the need for federal and state action to protect the health of mothers and children. Interest in the standards has already resulted in the formation of a national permanent committee to establish physical standards for children entering employment, and in measures in a large number of states to secure better legislation for children born out of wedlock.

they believe, will in large measures eliminate the probabilities of damage.

There is one other wheat enemy which has begun to make appearance in some localities and this is the loose smut which is less prevalent this year than last when about eight per cent. of the wheat is estimated to have been destroyed by the common pest. The percentage will be much lower this year from that particular pest, farmers say.

Wheat is ripening fast and perhaps will be ready for cutting within the next two weeks. Last year some of the farmers in Jackson county were threshing their wheat by July 2. However, it is hardly expected that it will be so early this year as the wheat crop is somewhat late.

The farmers in the county are getting their work in shape so as to be ready to get into the wheat harvest as soon as the right time presents itself. Threshing machine owners in the county are getting their equipment in good condition for the rush season.

SCHOOL SITUATION CRITICAL IN STATE

the country report a rapid decline in the attendance of young people preparing for the teaching profession. It is estimated that there will be a decrease of fifty per cent in the number of graduates from these institutions during 1920 as compared with 1917.

The data secured through the state chamber shows that the situation in Indiana, is equally deplorable and that Indiana is confronted by a grave condition as the result of our educational situation. The survey indicates that more than fifty per cent of the teachers now employed in the one room rural schools, expect to leave the profession shortly, unless relief is given. Better pay for teachers and a higher standard of teaching efficiency, are the things demanding immediate attention.

A generation ago, Indiana occupied front rank in education, and had a school system that many of the younger states were taking as a model. Indiana has not gone back; she has simply stood still in educational matters, while other states have passed her. While Indiana has made wonderful progress in an industrial way, there is danger that she has overlooked the importance of keeping her educational standard on a level with her commercial and industrial progress. A few comparisons would seem to justify that view.

Indiana today stands second among the states in the manufacturing; and 43rd among the states in the amount expended annually in the support of higher education.

It is third in the production of corn; and 29th in the length of the school term.

It is third in the production of hogs; and eighteenth in the ratio of children between five and eighteen enrolled in its public schools.

It is third in the production of building stone; and 16th in amount invested in school property for each child between five and eighteen.

It is fourth in the production of bituminous coal; and 16th in the average salary paid school teachers.

While the above facts indicate a deplorable condition of our state's educational system, it is gratifying to know that recent action of school officials in many localities in granting increased wages to teachers, will greatly improve the situation.

PHOTOS BY WIRELESS TO BE ATTEMPTED NEXT

Method Invented By Arthur Korn Will Be Utilized in The Experiment.

By Carl D. Groat.

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Berlin, June 18—Transmission of photographs by wireless telegraphy will soon be attempted between the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken and England, and later between England and some ship traveling toward America.

The method invented by Professor Arthur Korn will be utilized.

Korn, long associated with the Technical high school of Charlottenburg, has devoted a large part of his scientific career to perfection of electrical transmission of photographs. He succeeded with his scheme, in 1907 in sending pictures by telegraph between Munich and Berlin, between Berlin and Paris, and between Paris and London.

During the war, he perfected his system insofar that ocean cables could be perfectly used, and now he is hopeful that he can accomplish the same feats by wireless transmission.

Korn recently celebrated his fiftieth birthday. He is noted for his work in connection with electrical and gravitation subjects.

ANOTHER NURSE PRAISES TANLAC

Sixteen Years Of Stomach Trouble Overcome And She Gains 20 Pounds.

Mrs. Alice Minnick, who has been a professional nurse for thirty-six years and resides at 1815 Twenty-third Ave., Seattle, Wash., adds her voice to the hundreds of others in this profession who have already endorsed Tanlac.

"Since I began taking Tanlac I have not only gained twenty pounds in weight, but for the first time in sixteen years I am free of pain and enjoying good health," stated Mrs. Minnick. "I constantly had cramping, gnawing pains in my stomach all these years, my appetite was extremely poor and the little I did eat caused me great distress. After every meal my food began to ferment and sour almost at once, I would bloat up with gas, and those terrible pains would get so bad I could hardly stand them. I became badly run down, lost weight and strength, and felt so tired and worn-out all the time I could hardly get around. I had pains in every part of my body just about all the time, but they were especially bad in the small of my back. I also suffered with severe headaches and dizzy spells, and my nerves were so badly upset I could get but little sleep, often lying awake all night long."

"I had heard so much of the good Tanlac was doing others I decided to try it myself, and it proved to be the very thing I needed. I began to improve right away, it was only a few days before my appetite returned and I can now eat anything I want without having a particle of trouble afterwards. Those terrible gnawing pains that had troubled me so many years have entirely disappeared. I never have a headache or become dizzy, and the pains that were throughout my body have all gone. In fact, my whole system has been built up by Tanlac. I have regained my strength so I can do my work as a nurse, which keeps me on my feet for hours, day and night, without a particle of trouble. Several of my patients have taken Tanlac, and it has proven beneficial in every case. After what Tanlac has done for me I can never say enough for it."

Tanlac is sold in Seymour by Maxon's Pharmacy, by C. W. Taulman at Crothersville and by Chas. Brock at Brownstown. Advertisement.

THE MAN WHO WASN'T HIMSELF

ROBERT AMES BENNET

COPYRIGHT, BY W.G. CHAPMAN.

"There he goes again!" put in Mrs. Kirkland. "We're all not quite ourselves!"

"Some are much less so than others," added her husband. "A few are not themselves at all. By the way, Mr.

He Eyed His Guest With Intense Keenness.

Clinton—to change the subject—I am interested in a small psychological experiment. It is to have one state, without pausing to think, the ideas suggested to him by a given word. Would you have any objections to my testing you?"

"None whatever,"

Mrs. Kirkland and Ellen exchanged swift glances.

The physician smiled blandly. "Then if you'll answer, quickly the ideas suggested by—"

As he spoke the word he eyed his guest with intense keenness. The ladies involuntarily leaned forward to catch the answer. Clinton smiled and responded without a trace of hesitancy: "Bonds—cash, bank account, trip to California—"

"Enough, thank you," interrupted the physician, his eyes twinkling with complacent self-satisfaction.

"If there is any other word you wish to try I shall be pleased to answer," said the guest.

"No, that was the only one. My real purpose in using it was to fish in your subconsciousness."

"And you caught—"

"Merely a confirmation of certain optical impressions."

"May I ask why you spoke of bonds?"

Mrs. Kirkland interposed. "I fear that you would hardly be interested in the matter."

"Why, mamma," said Ellen, "how could he be other than interested?"

"Perhaps, perhaps," qualified her father. He looked at the guest with a shrewd glance. "It is rather a private matter, Mr. Clinton."

"Then of course— Pardon my curiosity."

"We can trust you not to repeat what I tell you. Shortly before Will— Mr. Lowrie—accepted my advice to go to the sanitarium he was sent to Pueblo to negotiate for an issue of bonds. The parties whom he represented were allotted one hundred thousand dollars of the issue, and the bonds in that amount were delivered over to him. Soon afterward Charlie Benn, who had run down to Pueblo in his touring car, came upon Will sitting in the station grounds. He had missed his train. Charlie took him in, suitcase and all, and brought him to Denver. Late that evening he came home with his suitcase but without the bonds. He had not turned them in at the bank, and he could not remember what he had done with them. Except for a vague recollection of riding with Charlie and of wandering through City park, he could remember nothing since early that morning. The bonds have not yet been found."

"Has he never recalled what he did with them?"

"Not to our knowledge. Worry over their loss induced such alarming psychological conditions that the great specialist in charge of the sanitarium prescribed an absolute change. He has been temporarily cut off from everything related to his life here. The last report received by me was that he had been sent abroad in the care of one of the staff. Since then we have heard nothing."

"There is the saying, 'No news is good news,'" remarked Clinton.

"If only we could believe that!" sighed Mrs. Kirkland. "Do you wonder that I was delighted when I saw you there at the depot, looking so strong and well?"

"Mistaking me for this unfortunate Mr. Lowrie," sympathetically replied Clinton.

The physician had drawn out his watch. "I must return to the sanitarium. If you can keep Mr. Clinton entertained I shall be back soon—seven thirty or eight."

He was up and away with his usual briskness.

A few minutes later they left the table and went in to what Mrs. Kirkland aptly termed the living room. With a matter-of-course bearing Ellen at once seated herself at the piano and began to search in her music cabinet. Mrs. Kirkland excused herself to Clinton and went out a side doorway. Owing to the twisted corner of a rug the door did not close fast. A draft swung it ajar as Clinton drew back farther from the girl and seated himself on the chair at the far side of the doorway.

He leaned back at ease and quietly took in the tasteful unpretentiousness of his surroundings. Ellen continued her search through the thick piles of music in the cabinet. She had made three or four selections and was looking for others when the muffled, broken murmur of a woman's voice came to Clinton through the narrow opening of the door. He was not in a position to see through the crack, but there could be no doubt that Mrs. Kirkland was at a telephone some distance away, probably at the end of a narrow passage.

Only disjointed fragments of her talk were audible:

"Any . . . alone? . . . this afternoon . . . dined . . . No, not . . . looks splendid, but . . . not Will. Not the slightest remembrance . . . must not despair . . . Yes, I'm certain, if anyone can cure him . . . he prepared . . . believes himself . . . Clinton—"

As he realized that he was listening to talk that had reference to himself, the young man thrust out his hand to close the door. The sound attracted the attention of Ellen. She looked about at the guest, the corners of her perfect mouth drooping.

She bent over the keyboard and began to play something soft and low that ran into eerie minor notes. He stood at the corner of the piano gazing down at her with a look of frank enjoyment. She was undoubtedly beautiful and she played well.

When she looked up her eyes were suffused with tears, but there was eager expectancy in her glance. In his eyes was only the politely reserved admiration of a stranger. Her lips began to quiver. A tear overflowed and ran down her white cheek. She bowed forward with her face in her hands, sobbing in an uncontrollable outburst of grief.

The Face in the Miniature Was His Own.

He was overcome with consternation. "Miss Kirkland! I—what can I have done? Believe me, I would not for anything—"

"It's—it's not what you've done!" she sobbed. "It's what you've not done."

"What I've not done?" he asked. "If only you'll tell me!"

"You don't even remember it—our favorite!" she cried.

"You mean—surely you cannot expect me to remember something I never— It's not possible you still believe that I am not myself."

"But it's—it's you who deny it; you who—"

She looked up at him, her tear-streaming eyes full of pitiful entreaty. "Oh, Will! won't you please try to remember who you are?"

"Miss Kirkland, pray be calm, I assure you that I am Richard Clinton. I can easily prove that I—"

"Look!" she interrupted, holding up her slender left hand, on which sparkled the diamond of a single ring. "Try to think! You must remember; you cannot have forgotten about—"

A rosy blush swept down over her pale face—"about when you put it there, dear?"

About her slender neck was a fine gold chain, from which an oval locket hung pendant on her heaving bosom. She caught up the locket and touched the spring. The jeweled front of the locket opened. Within was a miniature painting.

"Who is this—tell me, who is this?" she asked.

To see the miniature it was necessary that he should bend down close to the blushing girl. His own face flushed with embarrassment, but he seated himself on the end of the bench and leaned over with his square jaw beside her rounded white shoulder. Had he looked only at the girl it would not have been surprising.

As it chanced, however, the young man glanced first at the miniature. At once the incredulity of his expression gave place to surprise and perplexity. He leaned over for a closer look, his cheek only a few inches from the picture of the girl. Except for a certain pensive look about the mouth,

Lesson 12 June 20 Second Quarter
SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
THE LORD OUR SHEPHERD, Psalm 23.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.— Psalm 23:1.

DEVOTIONAL READING—Ezek. 34: 11-16.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—John 10: 1-18.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How God takes care of us.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Shepherd Psalm.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Trusting God for Everything.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Our Divine Shepherd.

This is a lesson so simple that a child of tender years can understand. The teacher's work will be mainly to point out the riches of its content, not to explain difficulties. The position of the Psalm determines its value. It is preceded by the Psalm of the Cross. Only those who are under the power of the cross can claim its promises. There are no green pastures to those who have not seen Christ on the cross.

The relationship of the Lord to his children is set forth in this Psalm as:

1. The Divine Shepherd (vv. 1-4).
2. The Divine Host (vv. 5, 6).
3. Goodness and mercy perpetually follow (v. 6).
4. Eternally dwelling with God (v. 6).
5. Oil is a symbol of joy. There should be no sad faces among Christ's own.
6. They shall no more go out from his presence. He who hath begun a good work in us shall complete it unto the day of redemption. May every one take this Psalm for himself and make Christ his own personal shepherd!

1. He feeds his sheep in times of danger (v. 4). He goes with his own through danger and trials. There is no night so dark or sea so stormy but what we can hear the voice of the Divine Shepherd saying, "Be not afraid, it is I." May we have ears to hear!

2. He comforts his sheep in sorrow (v. 4). The rod was used by the shepherd to count his sheep. Passing under the shepherd's rod was the sign of ownership. Such acknowledgment would greatly comfort, even though the rod was the instrument which caused the sorrow. The consciousness that it was laid on by the loving shepherd's hand would turn the rod which smote to a staff to lean upon.

3. He restores our souls. The rest by the still water results in the absence of the mustache and a marked thinness of jaw and cheek, the face in the miniature was his own—it was his face as it might look in ill health.

The young man drew back, his face clearly expressive of his astonishment. "It is a—most remarkable resemblance, Miss Kirkland. I no longer wonder that you were deceived at the first, and this continued delusion on your part can, no doubt, be accounted for by the intensity of that first impression."

"You still refuse to believe!" she cried. "You do not recognize your own picture! Can nothing make you remember?"
